

LADY GAGA

A FEMININE FIGURE

Behind the extravagant personality of Lady Gaga, we can find a very inspiring personality. Indeed, this singer and actress defends many causes that are dear to her heart. Lady Gaga supports in particular the equality between men and women. She therefore uses her status and her popularity to raise the voice of women. We can see, for example, that her actions are sometimes very impressive and are not just donations of money or small speeches. For instance, she defends Christine Blasey Ford and Deborah Ramirez who were sexually assaulted by a known judge. In the same speech, she denounces the lack of concrete arguments of the president (Trump), who thinks that sexual assaults are just moments invented by women to get noticed. She also supports the female cause through her outfits, which the world thinks are weird, but which actually have a lot of meaning. During her speech about defending women rights, she wore an oversize Marc Jacob suit and she said : "As I tried on dress after dress today getting ready for this event, one tight corset after another, one heel after another, a diamond, a feather, thousands of beaded fabrics, and the most beautiful silks in the world. To be honest, I felt sick in my stomach and I asked myself: What does it really means to be a woman in Hollywood? We are not just objects to entertain the world. We are not simply images to bring smiles or grimaces to people's faces. We are not members of a giant beauty pageant meant to be pit against one another for the pleasures of the public. We women in Hollywood, we are voices. We have deep thoughts and ideas and beliefs and values about the world and we have the power to speak and be heard and fight back when we are silenced. So, after trying on 10 or so dresses, with a sad feeling in my heart that all that would matter was what I wore to this red carpet. I saw a suit buried quitely, I put in on to a resounding view of eyes glaring at me in confusion. And then I began to cry. In this suit, I felt like me today. In this suit, I felt the truth of who I am well up in my gut. And then wondering what I wanted to say tonight became very clear to me."
